Call for submissions

'Rest and release'
A global, virtual art exhibition about palliative care

Who can submit?
Anyone who would like to use artistic methods to share their experiences of giving, receiving, or observing palliative care.

What can you submit?
Any format or medium is welcome, but we will need to be able to represent it digitally in our online gallery. You will be able to provide a title and a written explanation of up to 250 words.

Why should you submit?
The Creative Toolkit team is on a mission to showcase the power of art to support reflection, expression, insight, and catharsis. Pictures speak louder than words, and we are hoping that your submissions will convince senior clinical staff, educators, and the wider public that it is important to provide our healthcare workers, palliative care patients, and patients' loved ones with the time and opportunity to engage with creative techniques. Plus -- all entrants will be entered into a prize draw!

Submit here

Deadline

31 August 2024

More Info

c.r.kight@exeter.ac.uk

https://www.creativetoolkit.online/